SoloPR May 23, 1:35pm via TweetGrid.com

@mediacoach Love having a chat participant that says "aye." #solopr

KellyeCrane May 23, 1:35pm via TweetDeck

A3: Big question. First, do you have a contract or other agreement that obligates you to a certain rate for a period of time? #solopr rajean May 23, 1:34pm via web

Me too @KateRobins @LoisMarketing - I feel I am more persuasive in person. I also read body language, so I like in-person mtgs. #solopr

jgombita May 23, 1:33pm via TweetChat

@KateRobins agreed, except it depends on the individual. If the client contact is introverted, F2F may not always be preferred. #solopr

RT @LoisMarketing: Think: You may not need to be face-to-face but who within your client and their public needs to be? THAT. #SoloPR

KellyeCrane May 23, 1:31pm via TweetDeck

A2: Schedule yourself as "out" $ add 2+ days more than you think it will take. It's harder than you think to work while moving. #solopr

KateRobins May 23, 1:30pm via TweetChat

True @jgombita & others, I don't often choose clients too far of a commute. Beauty of choice, when you can have it. #solopr

MarketingMel May 23, 1:27pm via TweetDeck

@KristK @KellyeCrane @KateRobins In person meetings are crossing to previous attire convo's. Image and being "suited up" are key #soloPR

KristK May 23, 1:23pm via TweetGrid.com

A2: Different logistics if move is across town or across country #solopr

3HatsComm May 23, 1:23pm via TweetChat

@KellyeCrane Had client bad at making meetings, so I started billing the time; soon, fewer missed calls or last minute cancellations #solopr

LoisMarketing May 23, 1:23pm via TweetDeck

LoisMarketing May 23, 1:20pm via TweetDeck
