#solopr

gregwbrooks 1:38pm via Twitter Web Client

A5c. At the high end, big challenge is retooling to meet C-suite relevancy. Fewer CEOs get PR as a long-term, stand-alone play. #solopr

KristK 1:38pm via tchat.io

RT @gregwbrooks: A5b: At low end, solos define themselves by tactics -- I do social, I'm a writer, etc. Rates falling for that #solopr

Hi, Paula here, long-time PR pro from the San Diego area. Joining late but happy to be here! #soloPR

KristK 1:15pm via tchat.io

A1: Acknowledge your shared disappointment, but don't apologize. You did your best so focus on improving process for next time #solopr

SoloPR 1:15pm via tchat.io

With Halloween around the corner we have a kind of sort of theme. :-)) Stand by for Q2! #solopr

SoloPR 1:15pm via tchat.io

Wise! RT @KristK: A1: With ongoing monitoring and interim milestones, the results shouldn't come as a complete surprise. #solopr

SoloPR 1:14pm via tchat.io

Lol! RT @c_hami_chi: A1. Know it sometimes happens in PR. Drink. #solopr #solopr

#KARPOS_Services RT: Q1. Your brilliant campaign failed big time. What do you do to recover? #solopr zpr.io/Pgpc8

KarenSwim 1:12pm via Hootsuite

A1. Own up to it. Assess what went wrong, fix if possible and move forward. #solopr

jendonovansf 1:12pm via TweetDeck

A1: Evaluate what happened (breaking news, idea not as exciting to others), see if there's a "day 2" story to salvage the idea. #solopr

Good point @gregwbrooks! Relationship is key, if strong and one mistake, recovery is possible. #solopr

gregwbrooks 1:10pm via Twitter Web Client

A1. Depends on the client relationship for me. There are times you can recover and times when you need to resign and move on. #solopr
